

The International Day of Mathematics (IDM) is a worldwide celebration. Each year on March 14 all countries will be invited to participate through activities for both students and the general public in schools, museums, libraries and other spaces.

Invitation to schools to celebrate the International Day of Mathematics 2026

One of the aims of the IDM is to convey the love for mathematics to young people and the message that mathematics is everywhere and that it is useful and beautiful.

Teachers are invited to celebrate in their classroom. Schools can also organize larger events.

The 2026 theme is:
